KATHRYN CREEDEN presents

The Everyday Superhero

With your character and courage you know you have all the right stuff – and you're ready to flaunt it. You are ready to be the "everyday superhero". You are eager to "bring it on in" and share your natural and supernatural excitement and enthusiasm. Call it quits with the love 'em and leave 'em attitude towards your coworkers and employer. This workshop will focus on capturing and renewing your positive force and combine it with those around you to form the "ring of power".

Kathryn Creeden brings over 25 years experience in training and development. A strong believer that "none of us is as smart as all of us," Kathryn works to identify realistic, practical and proven hands-on methods to develop successful outcomes! Her approach is simple, yet effective: provide relevant, interactive workshops designed to help individuals and organizations realize their full potential! From design and development through to facilitation, Kathryn brings energy, experience and enthusiasm that spotlight a healthy balance between the human and business equation. Her philosophy? - "Don't sit back and wait for change to happen to you - get out there and make change happen for you."
